

OMINOUS CALM INVADES STREET CAR SITUATION

The opinion is held in some official quarters that the peace of today is a lull before the storm, but others of a more hopeful mind think that the worst trouble is over and that gradually the United Railroads will be able to resume full daylight service under organized police protection. President Calhoun does not intend to attempt to run cars at night until the situation has cleared and public sentiment has set.

Many Cars Running and Only One Serious Out- break of Disorder.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—Ninety-two street cars are operating this morning on six of the twenty odd lines of the United Railroads and thousands of passengers are being carried. The first act of violence of the day was reported shortly before noon, when word came to President Calhoun that a new $10,000 car on the Sutter street line had been stoned and partially wrecked at Thirteenth avenue and California street in front of one of the refugee camps. Mr. Calhoun at once called Chief of Police on the telephone and advised him of this happening.

ON SUTTER STREET.

Twenty cars are operating on Sutter street from the ferries to Thirty-third avenue, manned by sixty strike-breakers. Twenty-three cars are operating on Turk and Eddy streets. From the ferries to the Chutes, manned by sixty-nine strike-breakers. On the Valencia street line ten cars are running from the ferries to Twenty-ninth and Valencia, five men on each car. Ten cars are running on the Mission street line from the ferries to Twenty-ninth and Mission, five men to a car. Fifteen cars are under way on the Haight street line from Stanyan and Haight to the Chutes, four men to a car. From the Oak and Broderick streets but sixteen cars are covering the route on Oak to Stanyan, to Page, to Devilsader, to Ellis to

CROWDS GATHERED.

The opening this morning of a portion of the Mission street line was the first penetration of the district south of Market street, and on this line much trouble was expected. Up to noon, however, order was kept, maintained by the police. A great crowd gathered at Twenty-ninth and Mission, but the cars have now been in operation since 11 o'clock and no violence has been offered. On all of the lines passengers are being upbraided by the crowd for riding, but the curses and words of obscenity that were such a shocking feature of last week's disturbances are not heard to-day.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—"I do not wish at this time to criticize the stand Governor Gillett has taken, nor do I wish to say whether or not he is acting unfair in our present difficulties with the United Railroads," said Richard Cornelius, president of the Carmen's union, to a reporter of the TRIBUNE today.

Of course after what has happened I do not suppose I would be expected to praise his attitude towards the Carmen. It will never be necessary to call out troops as far as we are concerned. The Carmen are conducting a clean and unselfish fight for justice,

BAD WRECK; MANY HURT

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 13.—In the wreck of a passenger train at Truro, near this city today, upon the Toledo & Ohio Central Railway, the engineer was fatally injured and a number of passengers are reported badly injured.

The number of injured is reported at twelve. The wrecked train is known as the West Virginia No. 2. It left here at 8 o'clock this morning.

The injured are being brought here in a special train.

GENTLEMAN THUG ROBS LIKE NOBLE

Used New Revolver and Kind Words

While walking down Washington street last night, Elbert Vestal of 542 Market street was held up and robbed near Fourth street, by a well-dressed highwayman who politely relieved Vestal of his coin. About $2.50 was all that was obtained by the gentleman robber.

Vestal was on his way home when accosted by the hold-up man. "Just a moment, please," said the highwayman, and Vestal came to a halt.

A bright revolver was thrust into his face and he was politely commanded

REACHED HERE AHEAD OF TIME

Shriners Arrive Early, but Are Taken Care of

Instead of arriving at 11 o'clock this morning, as scheduled, the first train of Shriners was landed in Oakland at 8 o'clock. The Chamber of Commerce, which had planned to entertain the visitors, speedily made ready, however, and soon there were fifteen automobile loads being whisked about town, taken over to Alameda and given a night of Berkeley.

The first relay of motor cars followed by others, and for long every stranger was being given a moving picture exhibition of the tier of cities on this side of the harbor. The beautiful spots and the commercial advantages were not neglected and the Easterners were fully impressed by the beauty of this section, its residential attractions and its business opportunities. Without exception the visitors expressed themselves as delighted and impressed with what they saw.

In all about 150 were enabled to take in Oakland and its environs. Only the forenoon was occupied in sightseeing on this side of the bay, chafing and having a one-day holiday and all being anxious to view the ruins of San Francisco. By noon the last had embarked at the pier and the travelers have since been training among the debris and wreckage in San Francisco.

California has made a fine impression upon the minds of the Shriners, many of whom have been here for the first time. Coming out somewhat skeptical regarding the tales told of the Golden West, they are ready to say that the coast justifies the stories repeated about it and that their expectations have been much more than realized. *

FIRE RAGES IN MILLS

WHEELING, W. Va., May 13.—Fire has broken out in the Aetna Standard mills of the American Sheet Steel and Plate Company at Bridgeport, Ohio, and is beyond control, threatening the destruction of the plant, which is one of the largest in the industry.

Stung to the quick by being admonished by his father, Frederick Mires, the court held the law to be constitutional, but held that it does not apply to laborers and mechanics on dredges, and that those employed cannot be held to be employed on public works.

All the cases came to the supreme court on writs of error from the federal court for the District of Massachusetts. Justice Moody delivered a dissenting opinion.

AFFECTS BIG CONTRACTS.

The decision will have immediate bearing upon the letting of contracts for the $7,000,000 worth of river and harbor work authorized by the last session of congress.

Most of the contracts under that were held by the W. W. Dredging Company, pending the settlement of these cases.

Justice Holmes' opinion that men employed on dredges and harbor improvements are not laborers or mechanics, as based upon the ground that in effect such men are seamen. He said that all other employment is incidental to the work of the men upon the dredges and to their services as seamen, and therefore they must be classified as seamen.

JUSTICE MOODY DISAGREES.

Justice Moody held an opposite view, deeming that the duties of the men in conducting the dredges are identical with their work as laborers. Their principal duty was that of digging and removing dirt, and the fact that they are employed on a vessel does not change the fact

Terrible Tale of Suffering and Heroism.

SANTA BARBARA, May 13.—Two or three hundred grief-stricken survivors, survivors of the wreck horror at Honda, Saturday, are preparing to leave tonight on the long funeral train on which the bodies of the thirty-two victims will be taken home. Many of those who are classed among the uninjured are limping from bruises and sprains. Women are under constant attention of physicians who fear the effects of the hysteria into which the horror of the disaster plunged them.

TYSON STILL ILL.

C. M. Tyson, who collapsed after rescuing many bodies from the boiling water pouring out of the shattered kitchen range, still is ill, but will be able to travel homeward when this Buffalo friend leaves tonight. Mrs. A. D. Wasson of Buffalo and Henry J. Fisher of Cleveland, who are suffering from painful injuries, apparently are unable yet to emerge from the daze which followed the realization of their losses in the wreck. Mrs. Wasson had just left her husband in the diners when the train struck the broken switch. He was crushed and literally cooked to death, leaving his wife a widow with a three-year-old baby. The tot laughs and crows about the hotel here, none the worse for the experience it went through.

Mr. Fisher lost his wife and step-daughter in the baggage car. They insisted on going to their trunk to get some toilet articles, although Mr. Fisher was reluctant to have them leave their compartment in the Pullman.

DOOMED BY OWN ACT.

"They were doomed by their own act." He walks pitifully at intervals, "and I was there and could not die too."

All the flags in the city are half-masted. The twenty-one bodies which were brought here are being embalmed for the long journey east.

PATENT SUMMON.

Rev. Forbes Robinson, the Buffalo pastor who was in the wreck, preached a memorial sermon at the Presbyterian church here. He told of the horrors of the disaster, and then, in unison with the congregation, made up of practically everybody in the city, prayed for the dead. In his sermon he told of the

"At about ten minutes to one our train started out loaded with members of the Ismailia Temple of Buffalo and Rajah Temple of Reading, Pa. We were all hungry for we had given our entire day to Santa Barbara to sightseeing and so we thronged the dining car. I remember that we were on a bridge and I was seated at a table, several of my friends standing about my side and joking about my appetite. I ate hurriedly and rapidly, gave my seat to two who stood beside me. A moment later they were buried into infinity."

NO QUORUM OF SUPERVISORS

READY TO LAND TROOPS IN CITY

Board's Calendar of the Day
Carried Over Till Next Monday.

Owing to a failure to drum up a quorum of the members, the Board of Supervisors met this morning and adjourned without transacting any business beyond transferring the calendar of the day to the date of the next regular meeting, Monday, May 20.

Supervisor Horner called the meeting to order and, and Supervisor Bowe responded to recall.

Bowe then moved an adjournment, owing to the lack of a quorum, for one week and that the business set for today be carried over one week.

Supervisors Mitchell and Bridge are out of town.

Supervisor Bridge is suffering from an attack of rheumatism and is at Byron Springs taking a course of treatment.

Supervisor Mitchell's whereabouts could not be ascertained save that he had gone out of town for a few days.

Supervisor Kelly was tied up by laundry troubles.

ARRESTED TWICE IN A DAY.

Robert Dempsey became intoxicated twice yesterday and was taken to city prison both nights. The first time he gained his release upon depositing $4 bail. Dempsey claimed this morning that he was arrested before he received from his first out-of-town check. Just as he got out of the man who pleaded that he was a hardworking man and needed the $6 he deposited as bail.

Willie Talks of Character in Clothes

The boss says it's all right to say clothes of character, clothes with dignity and clothes with style and snap, but not to say the only clothes that have these qualities. There is dignity in a coat collar if it lays snug to the neck and is sewed to stay, character in the straight fronts if they're lined with shrunken linen so they won't go astray, style in the cut of the coat and snap in the jaunty swing of the combination. But the inside fixin's must have good morals, too, or the suit will lose its good name and get a bad character soon enough. All we ask in this shop is a chance to show you the workmanship and the good materials that enter into the suits we sell for $15, $18, $20, $25 and $30; then you can look at the label, too, if you want to and you'll not care so much for the guarantee of fit, shape and durability, but you get it just the same. You get every advantage a square-dealing high-class clothes shop can give you and you take no chance whatever.

NEW ENTERPRISE FOR OAKLAND

PROPOSED WAREHOUSE OF STANDARD WAREHOUSE COMPANY—A. MERRILL BOWSER, ARCHITECT.

The Standard Warehouse Company has been incorporated for the purpose of erecting a warehouse containing 40,000 feet of floor space.

This building is to be built of reinforced concrete and will be strictly class A. The new enterprise will unquestionably be a paying proposition, and the business men of Oakland are congratulated upon the prospects of having to our city an enterprising company of this character.

The company has been formed by George H. Vose Jr., H. L. McAllister, F. H. Bittigheim, C. H. Sherman and W. H. Irving and we are informed by these gentlemen that the company is promised ample support by the business men of Oakland.

The cost of the building will approximately $50,000 and we understand that the building site has been selected. There will be spur track and water facilities.

The services of A. Merrill Bowser, 1015½ Broadway, the well-known Oakland architect, has been engaged to construct the warehouse building.

SHRINERS GIVE RAILROAD CREDIT

Speak in Commendation of Rescue Work

Dr. A. A. Kunkler of Cincinnati, Ohio, a visiting Shriner in Oakland today, was on the train following the one wrecked at Honda. Today he described the scene as being the most frightful in his long experience as a physician and surgeon and he gives to the railroad company credit for doing everything within its power in taking care of the wounded and in making the going comfortable.

REPORTS UNTRUE.

"Any reports to the contrary are untrue," said Dr. Kunkler today. "A San Francisco paper in its issue of this morning runs an article the effect of which is that a train bearing the injured to San Luis Obispo was side tracked for hours to allow the excursion trains to pass."

"The fact is that the side-tracked train bore none but the dead except one who was so slightly injured that he could walk and who needed no assistance in boarding the car."

"There was no unnecessary delay in handling those who were hurt. The first train over the rails after the accident, carried them and it had the right of way."

"On receipt of the news of the wreck ahead, the conductor of Dr. Lumber's train gathered the physicians among the passengers, seven in all, and several of the women, and loaded them into the baggage car which was attached to the engine. This improvise medical corps was the first on the ground and was able to render efficient help to the suffering."

ALLEViate SUFFERING.

"The physicians were fortunate in discovering a gallon of olive oil in the wreckage of the diner and with this they were able to alleviate the sufferings of the passengers and trainmen who had been scalded. The engineer especially was rendered more comfortable, his burns from escaping steam being frightful. From the whole of the number of the dead adds up to forty."

THREE CARS CRUSHED.

"The passengers soon learned that a dreadful catastrophe had befallen them. Those who were in or between the derailed cars were killed instantly as three of the cars were crushed into small pieces. The large stock car on the train burst and those who were not scalded to death were crushed and killed, sailing lifeless here and there. Some died from the shock. The total number of the dead adds up to forty."

ROYAL SALUTE OF ARTILLERY

President Wheeler of University Deplores Situation in San Francisco.

BERKELEY, May 13.—President Wheeler, of the State University, will leave for a three-weeks' trip East immediately after this week's graduation exercises are terminated. He will attend the annual meeting of the Association of Agricultural Colleges and Experimental Stations at Lansing, Michigan, on May 28 to 31, addressing the convention on the work accomplished by the university. Later, President Wheeler will deliver an address at the semi-centennial anniversary of the founding of Michigan Agricultural College. A short visit will also be made at Providence, R. I., the former home of President and Mrs. Wheeler. The latter will accompany him on the trip.

"I hope the Francisco Industrial situation may be cleared without any resort to violence of any kind," said President Wheeler this morning.

"I think a settlement which is violent and from one side only is not likely to prove final. One or the other side will retain a feeling of bitterness. The city can progress only when its people are animated by the highest zeal for justice and failing in this, the true growth of the city will be retarded."

Employees and officials of the Western National Bank, which has been used as a depository by Ruef, Schmitz and members of the board of supervisors will be among the principal witnesses examined. Alexander Latham, a detective of Special Agent William Burns, who kept a close watch on Ruef while acting as his chauffeur and the directors of the United Railroads will be among the other witnesses.

Alexander Latham, a detective of Special Agent William Burns, who kept a close watch on Ruef while acting as his chauffeur and the directors of the United Railroads will be among the other witnesses.

Mrs. Celia McDermott and George Francis, stenographers in the law department of the United Railroads, will be called before the grand jury today and questioned concerning visits paid to Riley L. Ford by Ruef and Schmitz while the overhead trolley franchise was pending before the board of supervisors.

"They refused to give this testimony before the grand jury but I am told that the order obtained a writ on Harry from Superior Judge Coffey will enable Harry to get the information he desires."

George E. Star, treasurer of the United Railroads, will be put on the stand by Harry and asked to tell what he knows about this and other matters connected with the overhead franchise.

BOARD WILL MEET TONIGHT

Trustees Will Adjudicate on Various Matters.

BERKELEY, May 13.—There will be a meeting of the board of trustees tonight, the first in three weeks. Among other things to be heard and passed on will be projects made by residents on Sixth and Locust streets against the opening of these streets. There is also considerable routine work to be disposed of.

The city board of education will meet tomorrow night in regular semi-monthly session.

AN ALIAS FOR EVERY TOWN

BERKELEY y 13.—Captain of Police Petersen of Oakland reported to Chief Volmer yesterday that Harry Moore, who claims the several aliases of Wilson, Scott, Cooper, Hoyser and Lewis, had been arrested as he came out of a pawnshop at Third street and Broadway, Oakland.

Chief Volmer went to Oakland and identified Moore as the man for whom he was looking. He is wanted in this city on various charges.

Moore is suspected of having a hand in more than one burglary, carpenter tools being the articles usually taken by Moore, as he could easily pawn them at the various Broadway pawnshops.

At first Moore, who says his real name is Harry Cooper, denied having ever been in Berkeley, but he subsequently admitted that he came to Oakland about four months ago, seeking employment in a bakery.

He says that since that time he has been in Oakland and has been employed by the Pacific Manifolding Company of Emeryville, where he put in about three days every week.

At the time he was arrested he had just pawned a carpenter's square, which he said had been given him by a friend.

He says that he was arrested in San Jose and was not charged with larceny but that is the only time he ever was in the custody of the police. His record is being looked up.

CELEBRATION OF FIRST HAIR-CUT

Feast of Wondrous Magnificence Astounds the Select Circles in Chinatown.

Gardens filled with rare exotics were not even as much as a circumstance to a certain radiant beauty that emphasized the feast of Fong Hock in Chinatown last night and all because a little son and hair was having his hair cut for the first time. It was a festival far beyond the dreams of forty society editors and you can count 'em.

THE SWEET SINGER.

"It is well," smiled Wah Jim, the musician, as he tore a Chinese classic from the very inner conscience of the little, two-stringed instrument. "Fong Hock's boy is a man now; his hair has been cut. It is well because it is his only son and Fong Hock is happy."

Best of all, nobody came without bringing a present. Big merchants from the six companies came loaded down to the guards with gifts.

"He is a fine boy, Fong Hock," they would say.

And the master of the festival would answer with gravity, befitting the dignitaries of Chinatown. "Thank you, I think he is a very fine boy."

The banquet took place at an Eight-street restaurant and there were 150 guests. A notable feature was the fact that the wives and children of the guests sat down at the same table with the heads of families. A most elaborate menu, comprising bird's nest soup, steam stuffed duck, Foon Yoon Ila shark's fins and other rare and costly Celestial dishes were served. When the son was climbing the ladder of mirth shooting arrows of radiance on the earliest milk wagon, the last guest shook Fong Hock gravely by the hand and took his leave. "He is a fine boy, Fong Hock."

HIS FIRST HAIR CUT.

forty, a social function that makes descriptive adjectives even as a passing shadow.

Why, therefore, should not the ceremony have been surrounded with a certain wondrous magnificence and, what matters it to common people if the feast cost Fong Hock eighteen hundred bones?

A MAN OF SUBSTANCE.

Fong Hock, let me tell you, belongs to the who's who classification of humans. He is custodian of Chinese discounts in the Anglo California Bank of San Francisco—a man of substance and might as a mandarin on this side of the bay.

When he was younger Fong Hock was considered the most eligible "patty" between the here and faraway Cathay. Mothers with lily feet daughters smiled upon him as he passed to his labors and wise men spoke in whispers of his increasing wealth, prophesying that some day he would own a great theater of his own with plays containing acts that would last at least a week, the same replete with battles, murders, death, love and fireworks.

EVERYBODY PRESENT.

But as we were saying, all Chinatown woke up and rubbed the sleep out of its eyes last night. Even the little gold beaters around the corner of Ninth street whom men say never

Athenians of the Golden West Celebrate

BERKELEY, May 13.—Dressed in Greek costumes, and playing the games of the Greek athletes, members of four classes of the University of California met this afternoon in the Greek Theater. Every thing surrounding the performance spoke of the ancient days when Greece ruled the world not only in athletics but as the literary center. All of the contests in which Hellenic patrons excelled were presented, and the contests were not only interesting but instructive as well.

In the tenth day the Greeks were first to the running race. Selections were made as an accomplishment that was above all other sports. The stadium on which these were run was reproduced in the Greek Theater this afternoon, lending realistic effect to the games, the environs completing the scene. Spectators numbered back centuries when the best athletes in the world performed exploits on the sand-ed stadium, never before excelled or equaled since. The races were at 616 feet, and 122 feet, and were hotly and closely contested.

Throwing the Javelin was another of the old sports that made an interesting spectacle. Accuracy in throwing the Javelin at a target 50 feet away will be practiced and care and this was seen in some of the performances of the contestants.

TO CELEBRATE FIRST LANDING

Three Centuries Have Elapsed Since English Settlers Came.

NORFOLK, Va., May 13.—The celebration today on Jamestown Island, 40 miles up the James river, of the 300th anniversary of the landing there of the first permanent English settlers, under Sir Christopher Newport, John Smith and others, will be held under full sun and conditions in every way appropriate. The exercises upon the island are directly under the auspices of the Society for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities. Joseph Bryan of Richmond, Va., will preside and the invocation will be offered by Bishop Randolph of the diocese of Southern Virginia.

The opening address will be delivered by Governor Swanson of Virginia, and Ambassador Bryce, the subject being "The Greetings of the Old World to the New."

Governor Ellis of Virginia will introduce Ambassador Bryce.

A choral composed of students from Williams and Mary College will be in attendance, and Bishop Gibson of the Diocese of Virginia, and other clergy will participate.

SENIORS HEAR GUIDING WORDS

Baccalaureate Sermon of Rev. Bradford Leavitt Scores Labor Unions.

BERKELEY, May 13.—Solemn words of counsel were given members of the senior class and assembled students yesterday afternoon when the Rev. Bradford W. Leavitt, of San Francisco delivered the baccalaureate sermon. Men and women who feasted at banquet tables Saturday night, met in Hearst hall and in the initial feature of the commencement exercises Rev. Leavitt took for his text I John 3:3 "And every man that hath this hope in him, putteth himself even as He is pure." He said in part:

"There are few things more apt to hold one to his trust than the desire to do something or be something. Nothing gives us more confidence in a young man or woman than to discover that he or she has done and hopes for the future. Let a lad have a hope in him of success in business or in profession and all real danger is past. It is those who have no hopes for the future who are open to every assault of the devil in the present. In the higher fields of success there are no accidents; men reap precisely what they have sown, and nothing else. Nothing is lost; on a man who is always preparing for his work and his life by keeping eyes and heart open to nature, books, men. For the man who depends upon his brains for a livelihood there is no vacation or time when he may sit down with his work finished. The greatest secret of success are those who look not for the end, for payment, but with eyes fixed on the task to see if it were done honestly. If there is a social, moral, or intellectual difference between men the difference is between those who throw down their tools when the whistle blows, and those who work on till the work is done.

GROWING TYRANNY.

"Let a man be filled with a hope of reviving a great wrong; let him feel the hunger of the poor, the poisonous vapor of a saloon at every corner;

let him learn to hate the respectable complacency that lifts aside its skirts from one sin when they were bought and paid for by another sin; let him see the officers of great corporations chosen as trustees by the owners, who are the stockholders, juggling with great properties for personal ends and requiring the consumer to pay a price that will practice earnings; and sometimes the capitalization caused by the industry; or let him see the growing tyranny of the labor unions that we defend our homes. In our streets, in our city governments, even in our courts—the heaviest tyranny free men have ever been called upon to confront, conceived in good faith for the benefit of the workers, but proved to be largely for the benefit of the professional agitators, grafters and revolutionists—let, in short, any evil of the time trouble in a man's soul, and that man walks the world with, and that man falls at his side; and ten thousand shall fall at his side, and ten thousand shall at his right hand, but it shall not come right him.

HOPE THAT PURIFIES.

"Or if not these, let him dream of a book or a poem, a faster yacht, or a better gem, or simplification of biological or astronomical science; and let every man that hath this hope in him purify himself even as he is pure. Or let boy or girl have a hope of becoming like some one he believes in and adores. Let him be possessed by some hope that is broad and healthy and it will concurinate his powers as no hope of evil can do.

"What kind of a hope have you? Some of you have high hopes of usefulness, you have schemes and plans for helping others, you are thinking of yourselves only as possible instruments of God in the world, and having such hopes as these they will keep you pure—some of you will go still higher with me, and have hopes of seeing God; dimly or clearly dim and having that hope purity themselves even as He is pure. He who measures what he wishes to do by what Christ would have done, he who is disconcerted with himself, as Christ would have been disconcerted with him; he worthy to be laid at the feet of him whose life was without fault—every one that hath this hope purified himself even as He is pure."

The program besides the sermon consisted of the hymn: "Let There Be Light" by the senior in chorus. Professor Chuncey W. Wells, of the department of English read a chapter from the scriptures, and a quartette from the seniors rendered a hymn.

TO STUDY THE RISEN BEACHES

University Students Will Take Up Topography of Quake's Path.

BERKELEY, May 11.—Professor R. S. Hodson will be in charge of a class of graduate students and teachers who will make an extensive field trip with the summer, making a detailed examination of and topography peculiar to the San Joaquin and about the site of last year's earthquake. The topography of the region about the San Joaquin and the raised ocean beaches in this territory will receive particular scrutiny from this class of specialists. The class studies the bay district and in Guerneville while the northern territory is visited.

STRANGE RITES FOR HINDU DEAD

ALAMEDA, May 13.—Herman Krus, a well-known engineer whose home is in this city but who is now in Bombay, India, has written an interesting letter to friends here. His description of the social service of the natives is particularly vivid. In describing the ceremony he says:

"I have been to the burying grounds, Hindoo and Parsee. You can hardly call them burying grounds, for the Hindoos burn their bodies. They seem to have no objection whatever to visitors at the ceremony. They bring in the bodies in litter, calling as they come, 'Jain, Jain, Jain,' meaning God, God, God. They put about half a cord of wood on first, then the body and then about a cord of wood on top of the remaining. You can plainly see the body, the legs and arms projecting and in the case I saw, the husband walked seven times around the funeral pyre calling out the name of his dead wife."

"Receiving no answer he pronounced her dead and then ignited the pyre. All calmly sat by while the body of the woman was incinerated.

"The Parsees do not burn the body.

They place them in troughs and the vultures and other animals come and eat them. The Parsees are a nature worshipers and about sunset great numbers of men and women, gather on the beach, facing the sun, and say their prayers.

ALAMEDA, May 13.—Cecil Wright, commodore of the Encinal Yacht Club, was knocked into the bay waters yesterday afternoon off the clubhouse, when the boom of a yacht on which he was sailing swung and struck him. Harold Durney, the other member of the crew, ran to the side of the boat and grabbed Wright. He was pulled aboard and then taken ashore. He walked seven times around the funeral pyre calling out the name of his dead wife."

"Receiving no answer he pronounced her dead and then ignited the pyre. All calmly sat by while the body of the woman was incinerated.

TEAMSTERS ROUGH IT IN FRONT OF STREET CARS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13, 2 p. m.—An Associated Press man who made the round trip on Mission street, from the ferries to Twenty-ninth street, saw crowds of thousands of boisterous men and boys congregated about the low saloons of the Mission district and learned of two acts of violence. At Sixteenth and Mission streets a beer bottle was hurled by a union sympathizer at a car No. 1020. The missile struck an iron stanchion and splintered into fragments that fell all about the motorman, here were passengers on this car. At Sixteenth and Valencia a large stone was thrown from a crowd and landed in a passing car.

Two passengers were on board and five non-union men. None was hurt.

Police Captain Anderson is patrolling the Mission district with seventy-one officers, six of them mounted.

Throughout the entire Mission street line, distance of thirty-six blocks, passengers as well as strike-breakers are being subjected to an almost continuous stream of filthy abuse. Very few persons are patronizing this line, only an occasional one appearing courageous enough to run the gauntlet of the union workmen who are employed by the thousands on Mission street buildings and the hundreds of hoodlums who from time immemorial have made the district south of Market street their habitat.

At First and Mission streets a union sympathizer seated in a bus found himself spitting on passengers. In the Tenth and Castro street car. He was yanked out of the bus by an officer and jailed for disturbing the peace.

BIG JIM MAY FIGHT SQUIRES

Champion Drops in On San Franciscans and Creates Pugilistic Comment.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

The champion pugilist of the world, Jim Jeffries, quietly dropped in on the sports of San Francisco this morning. The cause of the sudden visit to the city immediately invited considerable speculation among the boxing enthusiasts.

It is possible that this fellow will visit Bill Squires, the Australian heavyweight, within the next few days, as he seems to be a great favorite in the "Squash" Corridor, and on the levels of the big fellow, and it is likely that Jim will secure a promise from Jeff to fight him.

Jeffries has promised to fight so often lately and fallen down on his word that the public is fast beginning to look upon his promises to return to the ring as a joke.

CASPAR WEMMER IS DIVORCED

Caspar Wemmer, an Eighth street saloon-keeper, was granted a final decree of divorce this morning by Judge Melvin against Louise Wemmer.

On the grounds of wilful desertion, Myrtle Gardner has brought suit for divorce against Eddie Wemmer.

The couple were married in Newark November 11, 1892, and have one son, Charles H. Gardner, for which the mother seeks custody. Attorney Henry L. Ford, who is a United States Commissioner at Eureka, represents Mrs. Gardner.

FIRE SHOT AT

SOL CORNFIELD

Talesmen are busy examining today the body of Sol Cornfield, 49, for an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill. He is said to have fired a shot at Sol Cornfield, 49, for the Berkeley Rock Company, which was managing the sale of the front of a San Joaquin property. The trial will be held before Superior Judge Melvin.

KEEP WATCH FOR DEBT.

Max Gutter, who was charged with being found guilty this morning by the court, was sentenced to a man by the name of Winter, who borrowed $10 from him to pay off some debts. Gutter, who was in possession of the money, refused to return it to Winter.

He stated that he will keep it until the borrowed money is returned. The case has been continued for sentence.

a pretty face, a good figure, but sooner or later learn that the healthy, happy, contented woman is most of all to be admired.

Women troubled with fainting spells, irregularities, nervous irritability, backache, the "blues," and those dreadful dragging sensations, cannot hope to be happy or popular, and advancement in either home, business or social life is impossible.

The cause of these troubles, however, yields quickly to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs. It acts at once upon the organs afflicted and the nerve centers, dispelling effectively all those distressing symptoms. No other medicine in the country has received such unqualified endorsement or has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Emma Runtzler, of 631 State St., Schenectady, N. Y., writes: "For a long time I was troubled with a weakness which seemed to drain all my strength away. I had dull headaches, was nervous, irritable, and all worn out. Chancing to read one of your advertisements of a case similar to mine cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I decided to try it and I cannot express my gratitude for the benefit received. I am entirely well and feel like a new person."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most successful remedy for all forms of Female Complaints, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and is invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the Change of Life.

WATERS WOULD TAKE A CHANCE

Notorious Crook Asks Jury to Shake Dice for Decision.

Will Harry Waters, notorious San Francisco crook and gambler, ask the jury who is now trying him in state to decide whether it is to go to the penitentiary or not? The police are inclined to think his love of games of chance may carry him that far.

Waters was arrested in Oakland some time ago on a charge of beating Howard Smith out of $400 in a pool game. He was known as "Charles Clark" until today, when Captain Peterson became convinced that he recognized him as an inmate of the "Rogue's Gallery." He went down to identify him.

"Some to me I've seen you before," said the captain.

"I guess not," replied Waters, indifferently.

"We've got your picture somewhere around the office," said the captain.

"Tell you what I'll do, Captain," replied Waters. "I'll just put up enough that you never saw me anywhere before to make it worth while. How much will you bet, Captain?"

Captain Peterson says Waters is well known to the San Francisco police. He has worked numerous bunco games but has always escaped penalties by his smooth work.

"How you get off this time," says Captain Peterson, "but there is one bet I can make with him, that every policeman in Oakland will be acquainted with him before he leaves."

DEATH CAME TO CAMP IN VARIOUS GUISES

Explosion Kills Fourteen Men on Scene of Double Murder.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 13.—As a result of a premature explosion at Camp No. 2 on the Southwestern Rail- way near Marion, N. C., Saturday afternoon, 14 men are dead, eight bodies having been recovered. Foreman Kidd's body was badly mangled.

At the same camp Sunday afternoon Walking Boss Kidd and Charles Hale went to quiet "Jim" and William Anderson, who are said to have been drinking, when Anderson shot and killed Kidd. Following this Hale and five others are under arrest charged with the murder.

Garrison Pratt was a Pullman car conductor, and lived at 641 Thirty-second street. He had arisen yesterday morning in apparent good health, and when he was found dead, he was found to be cut in hand and dog at his feet. He was suddenly attacked by heart disease and died where he sat. How the little dog met his death is not known.

Mr. Pratt, who had left the house for a few moments, heard his mournful whining and ran to the room in which he had left his master.

The dog was a native of New York and was 12 years of age.

He leaves behind his widow three sons, Garrett S., Raymond R. and Earl Pratt.

NOPPE PLEADS NOT GUILTY THIS MORNING

Shooting Was Result of Ancient Feud.

John Noppe pleaded not guilty this morning to the charge of murder which was arraigned before Superior Judge Melvin. Noppe was arrested on killing of Charles League, which occurred in the Hastings Hotel at Eureka on February 21 of this year. When in court this morning Noppe was represented by Attorney Bill Walsh. He will be defended by Attorneys Allen and Nash when he comes up for trial on June 10.

The shooting affair at Eureka was seen to be the climax of an old feud.

It is said that John Noppe, who was once a policeman and was dismissed from the force, Johnson challenged him for cause and when denied it, was said to have taken revenge. So Noppe was forced to make up the last remaining challenge to get rid of the undesirable junior.

On Thursday morning the annual convention of the California Bankers' Association will open at Santa Barbara. Two years this representative organization of the financial institutions and interests of the State held its convention in Oakland. Since then Oakland's commercial and banking interests and its status as a populous business center has undergone marvelous changes and it has consequently been raised to a much higher standing in the estimation of the financiers of the State.

OAKLAND'S DELEGATION.

There is a strong desire on the part of the ambitious and progressive element in local banking circles that Oakland should be well represented at the convention; but the latter happens to have been called at a time when business is very active here and the working forces in nearly every one of the banks are more or less crippled through the absence of many of their members on vacation. Several of the Oakland banks will not on this account be represented at the Santa Barbara convention.

At the afternoon session of the convention B. B. Gandy, president of the National Bank of Santa Barbara, will deliver an address on "Currency Reform," James K. Lynch, vice-president of the First National Bank of San Francisco, will follow with an address on "The Credit Department." Other addresses of the day will be on "Higher Education in Banking," by Allyn Young, associate professor of Economics in Stanford University, and on "The Administration of an Association of Bankers," by E. F. O'Neill, president of the State Bank of Commerce, Wallace, Idaho.

SECOND DAY.

Only two addresses will be delivered during the second day's morning session, one on "The Importance of the Banker" by Standard Jess, vice-president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, and one on "The Importance of the Banker" by Professor H. Morse, Stephens of the University of California. The afternoon session of Friday will be devoted to the hearing of committee reports and the election of officers, which will close the business of the convention.

Santa Barbara has made great preparations, however, for the entertainment of the delegates both in the day and in the evening. On the latter evening a special dinner and dance will be given to them at the Potter Hotel. Next day drives through the city and its suburbs and a barbecue will constitute the program of entertainment.

JUDGE MELVIN SCORES DELINQUENT JURORS

Jurist Administrates Sharp Rebuke to Those Who Evade Duties.

Superior Judge Henry A. Melvin severely scored talesmen in general this morning in reprimanding G. J. Pettitt, a juror who had to be arrested on a bench warrant for not appearing in court after he had been excused for a day or two. Pettitt said his ears had deceived him and was the cause of his inexcusable absence from the court-house since last Monday.

A bench warrant was issued for Pettitt and Saturday afternoon he was arrested at the Superior Court by Sheriff John C. Brown, who had been sent for him by the State Dietrich shipyard. Several attempts were made to serve the warrant on Pettitt but he was not home when the officers called.

The Governor and the Car Strike.

Governor Gillett's laconic announcement of a firm determination to preserve peace and order at all hazards rings with the resolution of honest purpose. There is no shilly-shallying in the language; no paltering with sense, no platitudes and no bathetic appeals to be quiet, please. The Governor quietly but plainly lets it be understood that obedience to the law is a duty which none will be permitted to evade. If the local officials refuse to enforce the law he will enforce it himself.

Troops will not be called out unless the situation compels it. Every good citizen hopes there will be no necessity for calling on the National Guard to preserve order. It would be a public misfortune if disorder should reach a stage compelling the military to police the city, for the use of troops to uphold the supremacy of civil law is a last resort that gives a community an evil reputation. Putting a city under military guard is an evil only second to the reign of riot and lawlessness. By keeping the peace troops will be kept out of the city.

That is what Governor Gillett says, but he also says he has no faith in Chief of Police Dinan. That functionary expresses surprise that the Governor should consider him incompetent. Most people think he is even worse. Dinan says: "There would have been no rioting at all had Calhoun notified me the first day he took cars down Turk street." This is the statement of a fool or a knave. Dinan knows where the car barns are located; the announcement was made in advance that cars would be run. As Chief of Police it was his duty to guard against the possibility of disturbance and to distribute his force with a view to meeting the exigency that every person of intelligence knew was sure to arise in the vicinity of the car barns.

Dinan ignored the signs of the times, all of which presaged impending conflict, and took no precautions to prevent trouble. He skulked and shirked, and then vaporized in a manner to encourage further rioting. His hands are wet with human blood. After permitting criminal violence, he directly encouraged it by announcing that he would shoot down men for daring to provide the defense the officers of the law withheld.

Calhoun made the mistake of not equipping his cars with red lights. Had he hung out those signals, force of habit would probably have caused Dinan to extend his protecting arm to the cars. He ordered the release of a rioter that a brave patrolman had with great difficulty arrested redhanded, and then bowed his acknowledgment to the cheers of the mob. This bespeaks the character of the man and his conception of his duty as an officer of the law.

If troops are called in to restore order in San Francisco, Dinan will be principally to blame for it. If he is not incompetent he is deliberately false to his duty and his oath of office. When men wearing the badges of pickets are permitted to assail women who get on the cars with obscene insults, the culmination of police cowardice and ruffianism has been reached. Such outrages must be suppressed, and Governor Gillett deserves the thanks of all decent people in saying that they shall end.

Richard Cornelius says the Carmen's Union stands for peace and order. Why, then, does he object to police protecting the cars and call the men operating them thugs and cutthroats? Why is it necessary to guard the cars at all? Beyond question the vast majority of the carmen are industrious, law-abiding citizens, who will not insult women or smash cars with cobblestones, but there is a minority who respect neither the law nor the sex to which their mothers and sisters belong. To such the officers of the law must sternly address themselves. It is riot, not unionism, that must be suppressed.

Much Depends on President Mahon.

It is fortunate that W. D. Mahon, head of the national organization of street carmen, has arrived in San Francisco. Mr. Mahon is a man of capacity and sound discretion. His devotion to the cause of labor cannot be questioned, for his services to the men engaged in street railway service have been numerous and large. He has invariably counseled against violence and disorder and is an advocate of mediation and arbitration. His most notable victories have been gained by mediation and conciliation, and by addressing sensible arguments to humanity and justice. There is not a street railway manager in the country that does not respect him, nor is there one who will not give earnest consideration to what he has to say. Unfortunately sickness prevented his giving personal attention to the San Francisco situation earlier, and he has come upon the scene at a time when matters are in a very bad shape, indeed. Nevertheless his wisdom and experience give hope of an adjustment that will permit the carmen to return to work in a spirit of good will. Public interests demand that the strike be settled promptly and on a basis that will restore industrial harmony to the city. If Mr. Mahon can settle it amicably he will render an immense service to the community at large as well as the cause of labor, which he has so efficiently represented in the past.

WANTS TO ANNEX OAKLAND.

EDITOR TRIBUNE: You say the suggestion of consolidation under the name of East San Francisco is "rot" and ask why not consolidate under the name of West Oakland. There is no reason that I know of, except that it would not accomplish the same result. Also all our names would suggest a great city while the other would be a subject of mirth. THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE has merit and I would like to see it rise to the dignity of a great metropolitan daily, with circulation far beyond the borders of its town, but it will never be much more than a local paper so long as it is printed in Oakland merely.

Brooklyn was nothing but a provincial town even with a million inhabitants until it became a great metropolitan city by union with New York. And so it will be here, so long as local jealousy divides what should be known as one great community, as Berkeley, Piedmont and Fruitvale divide themselves from Oakland. If they were all united and pulling together each would be 100 per cent better off.

Oakland has had natural advantages equal to San Francisco and superior to Los Angeles for fifty years, but it has lacked brains and energy to see and do. Those were absorbed in the larger city. Owing to fortunate circumstances she is getting an accession of them in the past year and is growing accordingly. She is beginning to do things, but San Francisco is doing things also. She is overcoming abnormal conditions of every kind heroically, and it will not be long before any community, however conceited, might well be proud to be associated with her. My interests are more on this side of the bay now than over there, so I am not prejudiced. If I were younger I would make a fight on this question; as it is I will leave it to younger men, and if they do not see it at once will have to wait until they grow up.

THOMAS O'BRIEN.

Prevention of Forest Fires.

Every summer this State has been afflicted by serious forest fires. Some of them have been very destructive, not only to growing timber but to other property. This year the State Forester is receiving liberal offers of aid from the Supervisors of various counties to carry out a preventive campaign. It is quite probable that many of the destructive forest fires of the past might have been controlled before serious damage had been done by timely attention. Usually such fires are allowed to burn on without any effort being made to quench them until they reach a stage when settlements or valuable cultivated territory and important industries are threatened. It is then usually too late to arrest the progress of the flames and the only thing that can be done is to divert their course in a direction where the least damage to improvements can be done.

The old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth more than a pound of cure" holds good in the case of summer forest fires, and State Forester Lull has wisely decided this year to apply it. The co-operation of those forest counties which are usually frequented by campers in the matter of policing the camps and enforcing strict regulations regarding the extinguishment of camp fires, will doubtless do much toward reducing the number of forest fires and the area of the timber land which is annually devastated by them. Careless campers have unquestionably been responsible for many destructive forest fires in the past. Others have been traced to the negligence of hunters. Both of these classes can be controlled in a broad sense, for neither will intentionally set any forest growth afire. The vagrant tramp is the only truly vicious agent figuring in the case. He has no respect for property; and, for the mere gratification of his destructive propensities, he will deliberately apply the torch to the dry underbrush adjacent to the camp he is abandoning. But the camping places of this predacious and irresponsible fraternity are well known to the officers of each county, and, if these are systematically put under police surveillance in the timber-growing counties, it is more than likely that good results will be obtained through a material reduction in the number of the summer forest fires. Doubtless the State Forester will be able to evolve a satisfactory system of policing, now that the counties interested are volunteering to co-operate with him. The experiment is worth trying anyhow, for the annual loss of merchantable timber, without considering other property destroyed or menaced by summer fires, is becoming a very serious question owing to the rapid contraction of the forest areas by the legitimate operations of the lumberman.

The flooding of the islands in the delta of the San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers has turned out, happily, not to be such a serious calamity to the land-owners and farmers occupying them as was at first feared it would be. The flooded sections are being rapidly drained. The crops in some parts of the submerged area are reported to have not only survived, but to be now in a fine condition. Other areas where the crops in the ground at the time of the flooding were drowned out, have been drained early enough to enable their reseeding with certainty of reaping a harvest. All fear of a shortage of potatoes and beans has been dissipated, as the area adapted for the cultivation of these foodstuffs is represented by an expert who has thoroughly exploited the field, to be 20,000 acres in excess of the area utilized last year. It wouldn't be surprising, after all, if the farmers of the delta lands should be immediate gainers through the flood. Anyhow, we are always liable to overrate disaster in this State, and this year's experience of river islanders is a case in point.

The Fresno seedless raisin trust is one of the latest combinations organized for the restraint of trade and the creation of a monopoly of the interests it represents, to go out of business. It was impelled to do so by a wholesome fear that it would, sooner or later, come under the ban of the law passed by the State Legislature at the last session. Its demise will doubtless be hailed with supreme satisfaction by the seedless raisin growers, for they will have a chance now to get a fair price for their products under the stimulus of honest competition.

"It's little whims that determine the popularity of novelties," said the girl at the glove counter. "This 'unfinished mocha' is a particularly good seller because the 'ball and socket' fasteners snap loudly. They give a woman something to play with, so the manufacturers have got wise and now all the new gloves have very snappy fasteners." Then the clerk-psychologist felt of her belt buckle, smoothed her back hair, and moved on to the next customer.—Kansas City Star.

USED HERE ABOUT THE RIVALRY OF ARMS

"This letter to you Phidias is written on a railway train now nearing Santa Barbara says a feminine resident of Pasadena, and she continues: I am now en route back home after a stay with friends in San Francisco. They take THE TRIBUNE and I have grown to be very much interested in your comparison of arms. The fact that the contest is limited to Alameda County volunteers precludes me from entering as a Southern California recruit. However I have a fine picture of myself and shall send you one.

You will notice when you get it, that I was photoed after a study of Cleo de Merode a Parisian model. She and I look alike in some ways but that the likeness is of me and not of her will be shown by the photographer's signature. Your idea of giving views of living people who are beautiful in arms and shoulders is certainly all right. There are many dead and gone persons that we read of in history whom we would like to see reproduced pictorially—just think of the truly lovely creatures who fluttered about the courts of Louis XIV of France and Charles II of England and in those countries not to mention others there must have been many an earthly Hebe, Diana, Minerva and Venus. Also your plan to secure an end pose is splendid.

We hope to be awarded the gloves declared a Piedmont fair one. There are two of us. Of course we'd like to gun that dozen pairs of silken stockings for shipshape arm, but I guess our best chance is for the gloves. We are going to have ourselves combed exclusively for the exposition. It is my opinion that some very nice people have already taken part in your tourney. That pose by Bessie

YOUNG LADY, WHAT HAVE YOU TO SAY IN REGARD TO THE COMMON GAME CALLED FLIRT?

Many Opinions from Many Sources Are Given on the Subject

People in England have been puzzling themselves over the question: What is a flirt? A London paper recently flung the query at its readers and demanded an answer. Incidentally, the publication whetted the wits of its subscribers by offering prizes for the most appropriate replies. Thousands of answers were received and in due course the judges for the competition announced the awards. Of course, men won the honors—men presumably who had fallen victims to some flirt.

The best answer to the question: What is a flirt? was said to be the following:

A misguided individual who wants all loves roses without any thorns and usually ends with nothing to show but scratches.

The second prize man tendered this reply:

One who leads you to love a paradise and then rudely slams the gates in your face.

And the man who received the third prize answered in this wise:

A sampler of Cupid's wares who can't make up his mind and through her indecision is often left behind.

A woman received what was called a consolation prize for this reply:

One who possessing charm uses its disarming power abuses it, seducing love, refuses it, plucks fairest fruit—and bruises it.

A prize of the same character went to a man for this effusion:

A flirt is the wasp of society, ruffling all the flowers of friendship but producing no honey.

Other noteworthy answers were:

A flirt is the destroyer of youthful belief in the goodness of human nature.

A queer fish having the voracity of a shark, arms of an octopus and backbone of a jellyfish.

One who's heart is so susceptible and soft that Cupid's arrows pass completely through it without sticking.

The moral carbuncle that destroys our fair city of belief in both man and woman kind.

A flirt is a fraudulent person who by numerous devices tries to obtain love under false pretenses.

A poacher with alluring snares on Cupid's estate.

One who sees how near a lighted match can be placed to an unkindled fire without setting it aglow.

One who plays with Cupid, but wears a suit of armor.

A butterfly girl of the Chase or Charlie type mostly found in cozy corners where lamps are not too bright.

The girl who plays with all the boys and treats them all as penny toys.

A maiden effusive attractive elusively of high hopes conducive yet never conclusive.

A thief who to gratify vanity robs sentiment of its feeling friendship of its sincerity and love of its beauty.

One who jangles life's sweetest melody and makes it out of tune.

A girl who gets about and makes the boys all love her when she's had her fun makes a model mother.

A creature without mind enough to reflect heart enough to be constant love enough to be true.

One whose gratifications is another's mortification.

A species of human carpet which has a great fascination for two-legged donkeys.

One who desires to please, craves universal admiration experiments in love and helps to educate men to marry other women.

GIRLS, HOW DO YOU COME UNDER THE HEADING OF A TRUE LADY?

Are You Always Neat and Very Refined?

Refinement, modesty and kindness of heart are the three most essential qualities that go to making a lady says the St. Louis Republic.

The fact that a girl earns her own living makes not a penny's worth of difference. She may be a factory girl or she may be the first lady of the land. She can be equally a lady in either position.

The word education covers a large ground and has many grades.

There are few women in this enlightened day who have not the chance of some education, however slight. But the fact that she is obliged to leave school and earn her own living at the age of 14 need not keep a girl from being ladylike.

Innate refinement, the kind that comes from the heart, and is not mere outward show, is inseparable from true ladyhood.

It is not necessary to have money and live in a fine house in order to be a lady, but it is necessary to be refined, modest and gentle in your manner to all classes. To make distinctions between rich and poor is to be a snob and no snob can be a gentle-

Victim of Consumption Was Very Jealous

SAN BERNARDINO May 13—A deathbed marriage occurred here late Saturday night which resulted in uniting Mrs. Rose E. Mason, proprietor of the Hotel La Grande to Leo Ortega, son of an aristocratic Castilian family, he being on his deathbed. He has for weeks been dying of consumption. For years Mrs. Mason has been infatuated with Ortega. She obtained a divorce two years ago her husband not contesting. Ortega was a frequent visitor at her hotel his jealousy being pronounced. Several times officers had to order him away.

WOMAN JUSTICE HOLDS FIRST SESSION IN CHICAGO COURT

Disposes of Four Cases in Ten Minutes

CHICAGO May 13—Judge Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch the first woman justice elected in the West held her first real session of court Saturday. She disposed of four cases in seven minutes all of the cases being of considerable importance.

The occasion was made much of by Mrs. McCulloch's friends and the court room was crowded with women and flowers. Justices McCullum and O'Connell, her friendly rivals, were present attired in their best garments, and were accorded seats of honor on either side of "Judge" McCulloch.

Mrs. McCulloch has not yet performed the marriage ceremony, although she expects large returns from this branch of the business. A pair of elopers came to her immediately after her election but she insisted upon knowing if the girl was of age and sent them for affidavits. They did not return. Her court room is in her residence, and she proposes to take on all the business for two months this summer permitting the four other justices to take a two months vacation.

PLUCKY WOMAN RODE BRAKEBEAM TO GIVE HER HELP AT WRECK

Member of Eastern Star Goes to Shriners

SANTA BARBARA May 13—Refused a ride inside the relief train on its way to the Shriners' wreck at Honda yesterday, Miss Marie Fuller, 1010 South Burlington avenue, Los Angeles, got there anyhow. She rode the brakebeam on the tender.

Miss Fuller was going as far as San Francisco with the Boston Shriners on the third section immediately behind the wrecked train and when the Santa Barbara relief train arrived at Sutton, where all rearward sections were blocked, Miss Fuller asked Dr. A. W. Taylor, the division surgeon of the Southern Pacific, if she could accompany the nurses and doctors.

No said Dr. Taylor, and he forgot all about the bright-eyed girl of 19 until the conductor of the train called his attention to a wisp of brown hair floating in the wind above the platform of the front car. They went out together and there on the brakebeam, which hardly afforded a foothold, when the engine is at a standstill, crouched the daring young woman. Dr. Taylor was more frightened that she for the train's speed of fifty miles an hour did not seem to impress her a dangerous "Don't you know you might have been killed?" the surgeon growled.

"I might," replied Miss Fuller, "but I just had to go to that wreck. You wouldn't let me ride inside so I got aboard outside."

I am a member of South Gate Lodge, Eastern Star she explained, "and I am pledged to give aid wherever possible. It was possible to help those poor wreck victims in spite of the doctor," she said.

With another woman Mrs. William Henry Smith in the ranks of wealthy widows—widows whose wealth is reckoned by tens of millions—it has become true that six of them alone by massing their fortunes could make a total of $250,000,000. Mrs. Smith's fortune will not fall far short of $70,000,000. It is an amount almost as large as that which Russell Sage left to his widow. Mrs. Smith is not as well known throughout the Union as is Mrs. Sage. Her widowhood is too recent, as it was only a few days ago that her husband died in Japan, for the glamour of her fortune to surround her name. Instead of the man as already has happened in Mrs. Sage's case.

But her wealth will change that fact, it places her among the four richest widows in the country. The six who by drawing checks could make a quarter of a billion are Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Hetty Green, Mrs. Anne Weightman Walker, Mrs. Marshall Field and Mrs. Marshall Field Jr. Each of the first four women has a fortune several times as great as that of either Mrs. Field. In fact, it is possible Mrs. Sage, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Green could make such a showing without the aid of the Chicago widows.

Hetty Green's fortune is estimated at from $60,000,000 to $80,000,000. Leaving her out of the count, the last is held by Mrs. Sage and Mrs. Smith jointly for though the widow of Wall Street's great money lender received $85,000,000 under his will she has given away $15,000,000. Next comes Mrs. Walker, with $60,000,000.

But the comparative smallness of young Mrs. Field's fortune is offset in a sense by the fact that her sons, when of age, will divide $50,000,000. Mrs. Green and Mrs. Walker are the business women of the six, and each inherited her fortune from her father. In Mrs. Walker's case, however, the fortune came from William Weightman practically as it stands today, whereas Mrs. Green received only $12,000,000 from her father's estate, and at least quintupled that amount through her own ability.

Mrs. Sage and the elder Mrs. Field are the only widows of the six whose fortunes were amassed by their husbands.

SHRINERS ASK CAUSE OF WRECK*NEW STEAMER IS DESTROYED

Will Investigate Report That Open Switch Threw Train Into the Ditch.

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—If ever there was a wreck in which a thorough investigation was made, it will be the one at Honda station in which the lives of thirty-two persons were snuffed out. Whatever the railroad company may do, the Shriners are determined to know just what caused the disaster, and will be responsible. Frank S. Barbara has come to the conclusion that the switch at Honda was not in perfect condition, which might have been due to the work of wreckers, and that point will be investigated.

The generally accepted theory for the cause of the wreck is that sand blowing over the track, a common occurrence at that point, caused some obstruction in closing the switch and locked it open far enough, even though locked, to permit of the heavy train opening it and causing the derailment.

Shriners here propose to know, and to that end a committee has been appointed to investigate the wreck. Several of the members of the committee are railroad men.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The funeral of Arthur McEwen, chief editorial writer of the New York American, who died suddenly in Bermuda on May 1st, was held yesterday at the Fresh Pond Crematory, near Corona, Long Island.

A large number of Mr. McEwen's friends and former associates and all the members of the immediate family were present. The ceremonies were of a simple nature.

Franklin K. Lane of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who was for many associated with Mr. McEwen on "Arthur McEwen's Letter" published in San Francisco, came from Washington to attend the funeral and made a brief address. He quoted Kipling's "Gentleman Unaframed" as applicable to the character of Mr. McEwen. He told how he had endeared himself to all by his sincerity, his high character and brilliant qualities, and of the eminent distinction he had filled with eminent distinction. At the same time his kindly nature had made him hundreds of personal friends who feel that his loss cannot well be replaced.

"Generally debilitated for years, had sick headaches, lacked ambition, was worn out and all run down." Burdock Blood Blitters made a well woman.

COREY WILL HAVE TO IMPORT A MINISTER

ONE OF MABELLE GILMAN'S MOST FAITHFUL PORT RAITS. IT WAS DRAWN IN 1901 BY SEWELL COLLINS, THE ARTIST.

Has More Trouble to Pull off His Marriage to Mabelle Gilman

NEW YORK, May 13.—The management of the Hotel Gotham, where Miss Mabelle Gilman is staying, has announced that the Corey-Gilman wedding will take place at 10 o'clock. Mr. Corey has engaged the "royal" suite of rooms, which are on the first floor and have a private entrance from the street.

Mr. Corey arranged for a wedding supper for twenty-five guests and the hotel authorities say twenty-three have accepted. Mr. Corey is said to have engaged a suite in the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II, and will sail for Europe with his bride soon.

With his marriage to Miss Mabelle Gilman less than two weeks from now, Mr. Corey has been able on Sunday night to engage an Episcopal clergyman willing to perform the ceremony. It is said,

It is known that he asked several New York parishes to officiate and was met with polite but firm declinations.

The decided stand taken by Bishop Burgess of Long Island influenced them undoubtedly.

Reversing the time-honored custom, the wedding dinner will be given before the ceremony, and will be very elaborate affair. Decorations costing more than $5000 will be put in place in

S.S.S. PURIFIES THE BLOOD

There is no other part of our physical system upon which so much depends as upon the blood. The muscles, nerves, bones, sinews, skin, and other portions of the body are sustained, developed and enabled to perform their different duties, because they are supplied with nourishment and healthful properties through the circulation. In various ways the blood becomes contaminated and polluted. A sluggish, inactive condition of the system, and torpid state of the avenues of bodily waste, will leave the refuse and waste matter of the body to sour and form uric and other acids, which are absorbed into the blood and, Rheumatism, or some itching, disfiguring skin disease is the result. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, splotches, pimples, etc., all show that some humor has taken root in the circulation and rendered it sour and unfit for nourishing the body. There is scarcely any disease which cannot be traced to the blood. Often the disease-tainted blood of parents is handed down to children and their lives are a continual battle against disease in some form, usually of a scrofulous nature. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are all deep-seated blood troubles, and until this vital fluid is purified they cannot be cured. For all blood diseases S. S. S. is the best remedy ever put upon the market. This great medicine is made of roots, herbs and barks of recognized blood-purifying and building-up properties. It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, impurities and humors, supplies the blood with the healthful properties it needs and completely cures blood diseases of every kind. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., because it purifies the blood. Rock on the blood and medical advice free.

IT IS HARD FOR SAUL TO KICK AGAINST THE PRICKS

The Inexorable Logic of Circumstances Will Make Peace Certain in the Industrial World.

"The street car strike," says the San Francisco Chronicle, "has had the effect of bringing home to a great many people a realizing sense of conditions in this city which they never had before, but which have long been understood by all those whose experiences have given them a wide outlook upon affairs.

"San Francisco must at once return to normal conditions of business, investment and employment, or cease to exist as an important commercial center. If business cannot be carried on in San Francisco as cheaply as elsewhere we shall not get the business to do. If we do not get the business there will be no use for our workshops and business blocks and there will be no work for the men now employed in our industries or in the construction of buildings. Great hotels may flourish by the patronage of tourists who flock here to view the site of a once prosperous city ruined by the vices of its inhabitants, as they now flock to view the ruins of Ninevah and Babylon or to gaze over the waters of the Salt Sea which covers the sites of Sodom and Gomorrah.

"The loss of an unknown sum ranging from $200,000,000 upward has destroyed the financial independence of this city. We cannot, with out own money, either restore our buildings or maintain our industries. We cannot get money from elsewhere except on conditions: First and foremost there must be evidence satisfactory not only to ourselves, but to the world, that law not mobs holds sway in this city; that its public officials are not only honest but competent and vigorous men of affairs; that any man may work who chooses to work at any honest employment unless he can be dissuaded by arguments addressed solely to his reason and not to his fears; that there is a public sentiment which will drive from our midst such dastardly thugs as those who the other day, when employed on a steel frame building, stole their employer's bolts, heated them redhot and hurled them down on a passing street car. It will not be sufficient to attract capital that life and property can be protected on our streets by an army, or even by our local police. Their safety must be assured by a solid public sentiment.

"It may as well be understood that we are facing a grave crisis. The builders of flats and dwellings are out of business, for they can borrow no more money. Dozens of the men who have drawn plans and secured permits for erecting business blocks are rejecting all bids of contractors and preparing to stop work when excavation is completed, because it would be impossible for the buildings to earn interest on their cost. The contractors say that their bids are outrageous, but that with present prices of labor and material and the utter uncertainty as to what more may be extorted, they dare not make them lower. And as matters stand the work will stop.

"That is not to anybody's interest, but if the rebuilding of the city is to go on, material must be cheaper; wages must be lower; strikes must stop short; agitators must find no listeners; there must be order on the streets; peace must reign.

"And whenever such conditions exist we shall go forward again."

HEIRESS HUNT ENDS IN JAIL

German Lieutenant Beats Hotel in New York and Police Arrest Him.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Max Coster, who states he is a Lieutenant in the German army, and that, meeting with financial reverses, he came to this country six months ago for the purpose of marrying some heiress, was held in the Jefferson Market Police Court today on a charge preferred by Manager Shanks of the Hotel Manhattan, who says Coster ran up a week's bill of $60 and left without paying.

Coster is tall, well built and has a military bearing. He owes $21 at the Hotel Belmont, $70 at the Savoy, and various sums at other first-class hotels. He said, after his arrest, he found it easier to get credit at the best hotels than at the second-class places, where the guest's ability to pay was inquired into closely. He had established himself at the Holland House when arrested.

"My cake is dough," said Coster. "Did you prefer to work in first?"

The young and tender missionary after a thoughtful pause replied: "I suppose, sir, where the natives are vegetarians."

Frank H. The district attorney's office is desirous of having a speedy preliminary examination, as Horswill, the principal witness, will go to the penitentiary in the near future.

"What country?" said the bishop, "Do you prefer to work in first?"

The young and tender missionary after a thoughtful pause replied: "I suppose, sir, where the natives are vegetarians."

5000 Witness Game of Ball at Oakland

COMMUTERS WIN MATINEE GAME, BUT LOSE MORNING

Largest Crowd of the Season See Van Haltren's Men Beaten in Grand Game, 1 to 0.

By T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS. Won. Lost. Pet. San Angeles ..... 20 11 656 San Francisco ..... 20 16 556 Oakland ..... 19 16 543 Portland ..... 10 27 270

In the best game of baseball seen in Oakland this season, the Portland Beavers came out on the top end of a 1 to 0 score with the Commuters at Freeman's Park yesterday morning.

The largest crowd of the season turned out, and there were fully five thousand present when Umpire Perrine sent the boys at their duty.

The perfect weather conditions was responsible for the crowd, and every fan in the park went away satisfied that he had gotten the worth of his money.

Wright and Calif. opposed each other in the box and it was one of the best pitcher's battles of the year.

Oakland got four hits off Calif., but two of them were of the scratch kind.

Wright was in fine form, and he allowed his opponents only three hits.

Oakland won the game in the fifth inning. Moore opened with a sharp hit to right field. It looked good only for a base hit. Helmuller went after the rap with the intention of trying to toss Moore out at first base, but the ball took a bad bound and got away from him and before he recovered it Moore was on second. Had Moore used good judgment and a little more speed he would have made third base on the play, but he tarried at second. Bassey laid down a neat single. Carson walked and stole second, and Calif. won his own game by lifting out a "Rhode Island" single back of Eagan. Then Van Haltren pulled off as neat a piece of fielding as anyone would care to see. Schinn lifted a sharp one at Van. Van got under it neatly, and by a quick throw doubled Calif. at first base.

There was nothing stirring for either side in the first three innings, and neither pitcher allowed a hit. In the fourth inning it looked as though the locals would get to Calif. Smith and Van Haltren each singled, and Helmuller laid down as pretty a sacrifice as any one could ask for. Calif. used excellent judgment in walking Trick Eagan. With the bases full and only one gone, Calif. settled down and pitched only league baseball. He forced Eagan to pop one up to Dunleavy and then Calif. whiffed Haley. Pitching some.

After that inning Oakland never had a peep. Barring the fourth inning Wright pitched perfect baseball. He showed a world of speed, and his batters took the Beavers by storm. He pitched a man's game and the work was cheered lustily by the large crowd.

The Commuters journeyed across the bay in the afternoon and reversed the meeting position in a game that was just as thrilling as the morning contest. After thirteen innings of pretty playing Oakland scored five runs to four for the Beavers. There was good baseball played in every inning and the win of the Commuters pleased the large crowd.

Hogan pitched for the Commuters and his work was of the highest or-ates. Umpire—Perrine.

BREEZY CHIT CHAT OF THE GAME

Bassey, who was with Oakland temporarily, has been turned over to the Portland team. He takes Croll's place in left field. McClellan has released Croll. The latter has several good offers from minor league clubs and the chances are that he will go East.

Dunleavy smased out three hits in afternoon contest.

At the morning session of baseball some unsupervised gent in San Francisco lifted Van Haltren's glove. The pain of the glove was nineteen keys that were used up. The boy, who was the keeper of the hotel, tank and bureau, and fifteen keys for safety deposit boxes, large size, where Van keeps his treasure trove, was the master of either Burns or O'Brien and that he stood ready to wager $5000 that his charge would win the coming contest with Burns. Reynolds, of Los Angeles, after the Burns-O'Brien fight when he said that he felt more than ever that Squires was the master of either Burns or O'Brien and that he stood ready to wager $5000 that his charge would win the coming contest with Burns. Reynolds makes no stipulation in his offer to back the newcomers as to odds and as he no doubt realizes that Squires will surely be on the short end it would appear that he has such confidence in the chances of the Antipodean that he is willing to take a little of the worst of to get his money down. Squires has a slightly sprained foot and will rest for a short time before going into active training.

Bigle is coming along nicely. He held his position in the highest approved form yesterday. With a little more grace he would be about as good a first baseman as there is in the league.

Bigle has also been let out by Portland. He will very likely play with one of the State league teams, as he has a good hit.

Moore's two-bagger wasn't such a hard hit, but it did the work for the Beavers.

Bigle made a great stop in the fourth inning yesterday. Lovett peeled off a wallop that looked good for a couple of bases, but by extending himself in the air about three feet Bigle landed the ball safely. It was a pretty play and Bigle came in for generous applause.

Smith, Van Haltren, Eagan, Devoreaux, and Hogan each had a brace of hits yesterday afternoon.

It was with deep feelings of regret that O'Brien, of the United States, yesterday morning and crossed over to that benighted land of San Francisco. His mission was to place still another moral wreath entitled "Asleep" on the grave of the Antipodean. He did this and returned to the United States a happy band last night.

Bigle has also been let out by Portland. He will very likely play with one of the State league teams, as he has a good hit.

Moore's two-bagger wasn't such a hard hit, but it did the work for the Beavers.

Bigle is coming along nicely. He held his position in the highest approved form yesterday. With a little more grace he would be about as good a first baseman as there is in the league.

BIG THRONG ATTENDS A MATINEE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—The new three-quarter mile track at the Stadium in Golden Gate Park was given a very auspicious opening yesterday forenoon, when the San Francisco Driving Club held its matinee. Four races were decided, and two of them were very evenly contested.

A large crowd gathered to witness the opening, and because of the lack of policemen, who were doing duty down town on the car strike, the crowd somewhat interfered with the smoothness of the occasion. But no great interference was encountered. The track was gotten into almost perfect condition by the custodian, Hans Frellson, and some fast time was made.

The best race of the day and which was the most interesting to the spectators was the free-for-all racing, the third event on the card, which was carried off by Al Hoffman's Little Chinaman mare, King L. The favorite, Tarcie heats were required in this race, and the little mare had to extend herself to score a victory from Clara L. and King V.

In the first heat Mr. Hoffman drove his mare and she was beaten by Schwartz's bay mare, Clara L. Victor Veilhart drove the mare in the next two heats and she won them both. Her best time being 1:39 1-2 for the three-quarters. Jim O'Kane's brown gelding, King V., finished second in three heats and Clara L. after winning the first heat, could not do better than third in the next two.

Another good race was witnessed in the 2:25 class racing, although Luke Morris' brown stallion, Luke, the black, won in two straight heats, the best time being 1:45. This win was one of the surprises of the day, for the little gelding is practically a green one. Billy Hammer's bay gelding, Colonel C. showed up well and pulled down second prize, but was closely pressed by Cochrane's bay mare, Lady Patrose, who was given third place.

The brown stallion, Eton Vale, and the brown mare, Bessie S., were fourth and fifth.

The 2:25 class brought out a good horse in Frank H., owned by Henry Heubus, which led the field all the way and round was an easy winner. The three-minute class was contested by green horses and nothing exceptional developed.

The strike had little effect on the attendance at the coursing meet in San Francisco yesterday and a large and enthusiastic crowd journeyed out to Ingleside to witness the day's sport. Jim Lamb won the special event from Dan Finnegan by a score of 5 to 3, and we would like to hear from any team average 12 years or under. The Young Eagles have an open date next Saturday and would like to hear from some team. We also have another team, age average 18. Address all challenges to Royce Hawes, 486 Sherman street, Oakland.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—Joe Kilrain, one-time aspirant for the world's championship honors in the heavyweight division, has been appointed a policeman by Mayor Grinnan of Somerville.

Amateur Notes.

We would like to announce through the columns of your paper that the Young Eagles played a tie game last Saturday with the Liberty Stars. The Liberty Stars are a young bunch of hoodlums and we advise all other teams to beware of them. Last Saturday we defeated the Young Nationals by a score of 5 to 3, and we would like to hear from any team average 12 years or under. The Young Eagles have an open date next Saturday and would like to hear from some team. We also have another team, age average 18. Address all challenges to Royce Hawes, 486 Sherman street, Oakland.

MONDAY EVENING,

TOOK PART IN IDAHO RIOTING

Pettibone Was Federal Prisoner
On Charge of Dynamiting
Big Mine.

DETROIT, Mich., May 13.—George A. Pettibone, under arrest at Boise, Idaho, charged with Moyer and Haywood of the Western Federation of Miners with being implicated in the assassination of former Governor Steinemeyer, served a term in the Detroit House of Correction for complicity in the burglary of a powder magazine and the dynamiting of mine shafts during the Coeur d'Alene riots in Idaho during 1892.

Pettibone was arrested and tried with C. Sinclair, Michael L. Devine and John Murphy, in the United States District Court of Idaho. The quartet was convicted and sentenced to serve eighteen months in the Detroit House of Correction. The prisoners began serving their sentences October 21, 1892, but were released March 18 of the following year on an order of the Supreme Court of the United States.

During the riot, it was brought out in the trial, more than 1000 shots were exchanged by non-union miners and strikers under the leadership of Pettibone. When the administration was exchanged, the miners stole 200 pounds of dynamite from the mine magazines and dropped it into the main shaft, almost demolishing the property.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

G. W. Clay, a member of the Punk, Mich., Miners' cooperative for years, was shot in the hand by his thumb. He says: "The doctor wanted to amputate it but I would not consent. I bought a box of Buckle's Antiseptic and cut the bullet out myself. It was at Goodnow, struggled, Seventh and Broadway and Twelfth and Washington.

The following resolution was introduced by Supervisor Horner, it is ordered that the amount of $1,000 for a liquor license at Los Positas creek on the Dublin and Livermore road, is sustained and the application denied by the following vote:

Ayes: Supervisor—Bridge, Horner and Chairman Mitchell—4.

Plants, specifications and an estimate of the cost of the proposed bridge were received from the county surveyor, approved and ordered by the following vote:

Ayes: Supervisor—Bridge, Horner and Chairman Mitchell—4.

Thereupon the following resolution was introduced by Supervisor Horner:

Whereas, plans and specifications, accompanied by a surveyor's plan, for a bridge across Los Positas creek on the Dublin and Livermore road, have been presented to this board and it is considered necessary to route same with a more permanent structure, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, that the county surveyor be instructed to make a plan and specifications for a concrete structure to replace same, together with estimate of cost.

TO THE GREAT YOSEMITE VALLEY BY RAILROAD

By G. W. WATERBURY

SCENE ON THE NEW YOSEMITE VALLEY RAILROAD.

GLORIOUS SCENERY OVER ROAD JUST COMPLETED

Ride Up the Merced River Is Eye-Opener to Tourists Who View It for the First Time.

YOSEMITE VALLEY, May 13.—From alpaca coats, lawn dresses, canvas shoes and linen dusters to snow-covered mountain sides and frosty weather all in one day is now within easy accomplishment of the most unambitious tourist, who formerly toiled many days endeavoring to see what the modern junketeer now takes in at a glance. Horace Greeley, visiting the Yosemite Valley some forty years ago, spent over a week on the trip and rode the last forty miles on horseback, there being no wagon road into the valley at that time. Helen Hunt Jackson rode horseback for twenty-five miles on a narrow trail over what is now the Big Oak Flat wagon road, when turning the Sierras in 1876. President Garfield and Ralph Waldo Emerson suffered the same unpleasantness when journeying to and from the Yosemite. History vouchsafes the fact that they criticized the motive powers somewhat harshly, but united in loudly proclaiming the wonders of California's masterpiece of world-renowned scenery.

BY RAIL TO YOSEMITE.

By rail to Yosemite Park in one day from San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento. It sounds big and is big, especially when one considers the absence of straining horseflesh, dusty roads and uncomfortable positions occupied for two days on the stage roads leading to the valley. Now the sightseers can soon occupy comfortable car chairs, absorb plentifully from the ice water tank and there will probably be enough peanuts and cracker-jack on hand for all the small fry carried along.

After the formal opening of the Yosemite Valley railroad, which will occur on next Wednesday, the fifteenth of this month, one can board either the Santa Fe or Southern Pacific trains in Oakland, any morning from now till snow flies, and arrive in the Yosemite Park that night. It will be enough to cause every visitors to return, just to do it over again, and see how nice it is.

Arriving at Merced at noon the Yosemite tourists will be transferred by rail to the Yosemite Valley railroad tracks, special switch connections having been made with both overland roads, and whisked out immediately to scenes of Sierra mountain grandeur, where the many cares and troubles of city life will speedily vanish into nothingness, as did the metaphorical tents of Longfellow's poetic Arabians.

ON THE NEW ROAD.

I left last Friday for a special run over the road, pausing for a moment on the steps of the car to admire the new depot of the Yosemite Valley railroad, undoubtedly one of the finest for its size in California. Then the train pulled out and I watched the tall white dome of the Merced County court-house slowly fade from view, as the train whizzed off into the green pasture lands and promising grain fields that lie to the east of the town. Snelling, the first station out of Merced, was reached before long, and I believe there is no prettier farming country in the state than exists around that old and long isolated little town; at least it seemed so to me.

The proverbial little red country school-house was there, close to the tracks with a plentitude of healthy romping children and a yellow dog that tried to look interested at everything going on. Close by was the parish burying ground, a school-house and a graveyard on each hand. Tall eucalyptus lined the streets of the town and the fields about were studded with evergreen oaks, whose broad branches reached far out over waving grasses and sprouting grub.

Merced Falls was reached later on, that quaint, rather unkempt town of by-gone days, where once existed the county seat of Merced County and where the electric plant for lighting and power purposes of Merced is located. The power-house is situated at Lake Merced, an artificial lake over two miles in length, deriving its waters from the Merced river and located a short distance from the town.

At Merced Falls the road leaves the green-hued plains, rich with promise for abundant harvests later on, and enters rather abruptly into the tightly entrenched fortresses of the Sierras, never to emerge until the Yosemite Park line is reached, some fifty miles away.

MAY SNOWSTORM IS VISITING NEBRASKA

ALLIANCE, Neb., May 13.—The mercury dropped to below freezing to day. A light rain last night turned to snow and covered the ground this morning. Snow has fallen as far west as Edgemont.

Farmers, mechanics, railroad laborers and on Dr. Thomas Edecario G. T. T. the athletic stars, were buried at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used.

Ireland, Italy, Egypt, Palestine, Constantinople, Hungary, Spain and Algiers. They will sail home from Gibralter.

Zumco and half-tone cuts made at the TRIBUNE Office.

The precincts of Merced County were left behind soon after leaving the Falls and Exchequer mine and stamp mills passed soon afterwards. I understand an immense dam for power purposes is to be built here, making the third large dam in the Merced. We crossed the river at Pleasant Valley, noticing the wagon road to Coulterville, a mining town some eight miles distant, on the left. Jasper was the next station passed, now boasting of a big stone-crushing plant, under process of construction, some Oakland capitalists furnishing the necessary capital.

AT HORSESHOE BEND.

At Horseshoe Bend I beheld the celebrated Mast orchard, one of the largest and finest in the state, situated on a flat a little above the Merced river, surrounded by a climate that ought to grow anything in the vegetable kingdom. The Loomises of Washington, they of diplomatic and departmental fame, are financially interested in this ranch.

The Loomises of Washington, they of diplomatic and departmental fame, are financially interested in this ranch.

The Merced, now a raging torrent, was crossed again at Rugby, a town with an interesting history, where is located the rich Jessie Benton mine, once owned by Col. Fremont's wife and over which she had the honor of breaking a bottle of champagne at the christening. The stamp mills there are still running at a pretty good profit.

Sherpards Point, an ideal spot for picnics, is the next station noted on the folder and then Davis and Hall's gulch named for two old pioneers of early fame. The slate and porphyry country is now reached, those famous formations that have yielded up such enormous treasures of gold and silver since the days of '49, when the precious metal valued at over $100,000,000 was taken out from the districts about here. Big Oak Flat and Springfield.

Sherlock Flats, another rich placer district, worked extensively by Chinese miners a few years ago; the North Fork of the Merced; Quartz Mountain mine, owned by Oakland capitalists, where a four-ton stamp mill, operated by water power from a long distance flume, is kept running night and day; Pinen's Flat; Poverty Point; Bear Creek, with its fine variegated marble deposits. Sweetwater and Jenkins' Hill are next passed on our way to the valley.

CELEBRATED CAVE.

Jenkins' Hill has a now celebrated cave, where in days gone by fifty miners were imprisoned until nearly starved by the Indians, who took up abode at the rather summary abdication of a tribal squaw by one of the miners. In the melee seven white men were killed and only the timely arrival of reinforcements saved the others from sure death.

Ned's Gulch was another promising placer district, while a little further on the swift waters of the South Fork are seen struggling mightily with the racing current of the Merced for possession of the gorge below. At Indian Rancheria hibernate most of the Indians of the Yosemite Valley, and Big Nancy, Old Mary, Sallie Ann and other Indians of equal celebrity, all known to summer tourists, are seen here until late in the spring.

Hight's Cove, the next place passed in the journey through Mariposa country, has a piece of interesting Indian history, equaling that of Ramona, in which love, intrigue, wealth and notoriety all figured prominently. Hight was an obscure miner, penniless, unknown, traveling through the rocky wildernesses surrounding the Merced canyon. In the present vicinity of the famous mine he met a beautiful, tall, dark-eyed Indian girl, the very counterpart of Ramona and Pocahontas, in fact, who fell desperately in love with noble John, and John seems not to have let the noble sentiments go unrequited.

Unfortunately, however, he had not as yet made his big "strike," the one that would astonish the world and make him a millionaire at the first dip of the shovel; so the thought that "No. 1" "Last Chance" and "Dolly Varden" locations when amalgamated and properly watered would not yield a two-dollar marriage license and a suitable trousseau for the princess caused dismay and then faint-heartedness. It is related that then the Ramona-like qualities of the princess showed themselves and she offered to lead her dearly loved to a mountain filled with gold, a veritable Aladdin's cave for wealth, after which the ceremonies were to be duly and truthfully performed. Hight saw that the prospect was good to look upon, so with love on one hand and prospective wealth on the other, he rolled up his sleeves, split on his hands, grabbed his pick with vigor and set to work.

PROSPECT DEVELOPED.

The prospect developed into a mine, a mine that attracted the attention of the west some forty years ago and made Hight a multi-millionaire. But with wealth came ambition and starched shirts; he took the gold but not the princess, married a white woman and a law suit lasting for some years resulted, ending in Hight and the lawyers dividing the major portion of the spoils, generously allowing the princess the honor of having discovered and brought to the notice of mankind a really and truly big gold mine.

The mine has remained idle for some years past, but it is reported some capitalists have taken over the property and will have it unwatered and worked in the near future.

More flats and gulches, islands and precipitous canyon walls are seen in kaleidoscopic profusion until the terminus El Portel is reached and the engine, after seemingly having exhausted all of its steam through the whistle, comes to a sudden stop and the ride by rail to the Yosemite Park line is finished.

El Portel is now a busy place; laborers are leveling off vast tracts for railway buildings and suitable hotel accommodations, carpenters are working with might and main on needed improvements, storekeepers are seen checking over provisions, the railroad engineers are busy superintending the laying of tracks and spurs for the formal opening of the road to the general public on the 15th.

AT EL PORTEL.

Mr. Sell, formerly in charge of the stage station at Ahwahnee on the Raymond route, will look after the comforts of the traveling public while at El Portel, and will have charge of the large hotel that is later to be erected there. From El Portel to the Yosemite Valley, Crocker's station, near the Big Trees, and the Hetch Hetchy Valley. Mr. D. K. Stoddard, the veteran stagecoach of Merced, who for years operated over the Coulterville route from Merced to the valley, will see to the transportation of the tourists.

My ride up the Merced river was unquestionably a great surprise. I had expected something in the way of mountain scenery, of course; no route to the Yosemite would be popular without a quickening forecast of more to come in larger, grander, more massive quantities and I wish to say that all such demands for scenic eye-openers will not go unrequited.

For some fifty miles the road skirts a raging torrent, a veritable maelstrom of whirling, foaming, madly-dashing waters, broken here and there by placid, level pools where the golden sunlight is refracted in emerald-hued scintillations, and in whose depths speckled beauties can be seen swimming gracefully about in the pure, snow-formed waters.

The walls of the mountains rise gradually in height, from a few hundred feet at Merced Falls to 4000 feet at El Portel, their sides lined with the primeval forests; the San Joaquin Valley oaks and many-limbed, quin Valley oaks and many-limbed, round-coned bull pines predominating in the lower altitudes; the yellow pine, Douglas firs, hemlocks and spruces farther up. The boom of the cataracts, the waving of the pine boughs, the perpendicular walls all about, served to impress me with a sense of scenic grandeur that none of the old wagon routes into the Yosemite Valley ever possessed.

ROAD COST MONEY.

Of course the road cost some money, about $4,000,000 in all, and is owned by Oakland and San Francisco capitalists. Mr. Nickerson, in charge of construction, or Mr. Cocanour, of Merced, superintendent of supplies, will each tell you that the road was not built with faith alone, rattling off statistical figures with rattling gun case. According to Mr. Nickerson, the elevation at Merced is but a few hundred feet above sea level; at the terminus at El Portel the tracks are 1900 feet above the Pacific, but with a grade so uniformly even that only twice is the two per cent degree approached.

Seventy-five-pound steel has been laid, or five pounds heavier than that of the Santa Fe main line, and the ballasting has been of the very best. Of steel rails some 112 tons were used to the mile, or about $500 for the entire 85 miles of track. There were some ties used also, about 244,000 going to support the 8500 tons of steel rails. Six thousand tons of solid rock were excavated and 12,000 yards more went into various fills and riprap along the river banks.

The national government not being prepared to construct a wagon road to the Sentinel Hotel from the end of the railroad, a hundred thousand dollars was spent on that account; this road also bringing the banks of the Merced river and along the cascades to the hotel and camps in the valley and connecting with roads to Crocker's, the Hetch Hetchy Valley and other splendid scenic points of interest in the northern part of the park.

EXPENSES WERE HEAVY.

In the construction of both rail and wagon roads the Yosemite Valley road

STEAM SHOVEL MEN AT WORK.

PANAMA, May 13.—The threatened strike of steam shovel engineers and cranesmen has not taken place. A few days ago the men voted to strike, but there is no appreciable break in the ranks of the steam shovel men. The rainy season has begun in earnest and the steam shovels will not be put out of service by the rate maintained for the last few months.
